For the Love of Japanese Prints: Frank Lloyd Wright and the Art Institute of Chicago

Janice A. Katz, Roger L. Weston Associate Curator of Japanese Art, Art Institute of Chicago

Frank Lloyd Wright's activities as a promoter of Japanese prints had a lasting impact on Chicago, and this is very much in evidence in the Art Institute's collection. Katz will present her research into Wright's role in building the museum's Japanese print collection, the landmark exhibition he designed in 1908, and the drawings done by Wright and his studio held by the museum.
